The NBTs are split into two 3-hour exams, one is called AQL and the other MAT. The AQL focuses on Academic and Quantitative Literacy and the MAT focuses on Mathematics. Universities use the results of the NBTs to determine what extra support the learner may need at university. Universities also use the results to decide whether or not a learner's university application is successful.

What to expect. The National Benchmark Tests (NBT) measure your academic readiness for University. Some South African universities use the NBTs in addition to the National Senior Certificate (NSC) for access to higher education, while others use the tests to determine the kind of learning support a student will need during their studies. Two days before the test for which you have registered, you will receive an sms and an email confirming your test venue.
